DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This 2-story, squared rubble stone residence forms the southwest corner of Edgewood Road and Sequoia Avenue. An offset Spanish tile gable roof defines the facade, which features a front porch and a bowed oriel window piggy-backed by a balcony.

Five rubble stone steps lead to the entrance. A summer screen door partially hides the paneled wood inner door. To its left is a rectangular double hung window with 1/1 lights. The porch is composed of a rubble stone base with 4 symmetrical squared wooden posts supporting the cornice roof.

The offset gable holds a bowed oriel in the first floor. Composed of 8 double casement windows, each with 4 vertical lights, the oriel is mounted by a slightly projecting open balcony with a metal picket railing. Behind the balcony is a wooden door with 2/2 lights in the upper section. The Apex of gable carries a small rectangular, louvered ventilation opening accented by a stone sill and lintel. The roofline is defined by a fascia cornice.

SPECIFIC DATESBUILDER/ARCHITECT*STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The L-Shaped plan of this house is repeated throughout Ashburton. Variations in material and detail vary the style. The oriel window and metal picket fence are unusual features.
